- Computer Architecture

Projects

ChatOrbit – Real-Time Chat Application

MERN Stack, Firebase, WebSockets – April 2025

- Created a real-time chat platform leveraging the MERN stack, WebSockets, and Firebase.
- Handled messages and user data using Firebase Firestore and MongoDB.
- Facilitated live messaging features, online status, through Socket.IO.
- Designed an intuitive React frontend utilizing TailwindCSS

StudyChat – Academic Chat Platform

Technologies: Django, HTML, CSS, JavaScript – January 2025

- Developed a chat application tailored for students, utilizing a Django backend and a vanilla JavaScript frontend.
- Key features encompass topic-specific chat rooms, user registration, and AJAX-based updates.
- Employed Django templates and Bootstrap to create a responsive user interface and facilitate dynamic content rendering.
- Focused on clean architecture, modular views, and secure form handling.

StockInsight – AI-Powered Stock Predictor

Flask, TensorFlow.js, Polynomial Regression – March 2024

- Created a stock market tool that analyzes data in real-time and generates AI-driven predictions.
- Incorporated TensorFlow.js for visualizing stock trends and forecasting models.
- Employed polynomial regression to dynamically train models across various stock tickers.
- Utilized APIs such as yfinance and Alpha Vantage to retrieve real-time data.
- Developed an interactive interface for stock selection and performance forecasting.
